About the Open Archive:

In September we will open the Center's gallery spaces to "The Archive" project for two months. The exhibition will enable visitors to view a vast range of works by personal choice as well as thematic video programs.

The Archive Project offers three viewing options:

1. Opening of the entire archive to the public at large: each visitor will be given the opportunity to select materials s/he wishes to view. The archive will be presented in a video library format, where each visitor will be able to choose freely from hundreds of existing video works, and view the select pieces under gallery viewing conditions.
2. Presentation of video programs curated by the Israeli Center for Digital Art, and by curators, artists, art students, and others. Some of the programs have already been presented several times; others will make their debut here. A week will be dedicated to each program as part of the exhibition.
3. Presentation of video works from the Montevideo Collection.
